Enagic®
INDIA

“To become successful as an Independent Distributor, it is vital to support and show compassion for your customers and team members. They will come to trust and respect you if you demonstrate a commitment to serving their interests first. Listen to what they are seeking. Help them grow. Motivate and encourage them. Think less about your own success. Success will come as you establish yourself as a leader and a resource for your customers and team.”

Hironari Ohshiro
Enagic Founder and CEO

Message from Mr. Ohshiro

Keep Sharing Kangen Water® and Changing Lives

10 years ago, 6A8-6 Amos “Sam” Sia and his wife 6A5-6 Cora Loh came up to me and said, “We’re going to India to change people’s lives.” At Enagic India’s 10-Year anniversary celebration last month in Mumbai, I looked out at a crowd of nearly 11,000 people in the Jio World Convention Centre (KWCC). I was very happy to see this many people gathered at one of the biggest events that this company has ever held. It’s clear that our community is changing lives in India, one of Enagic’s fastest growing markets.

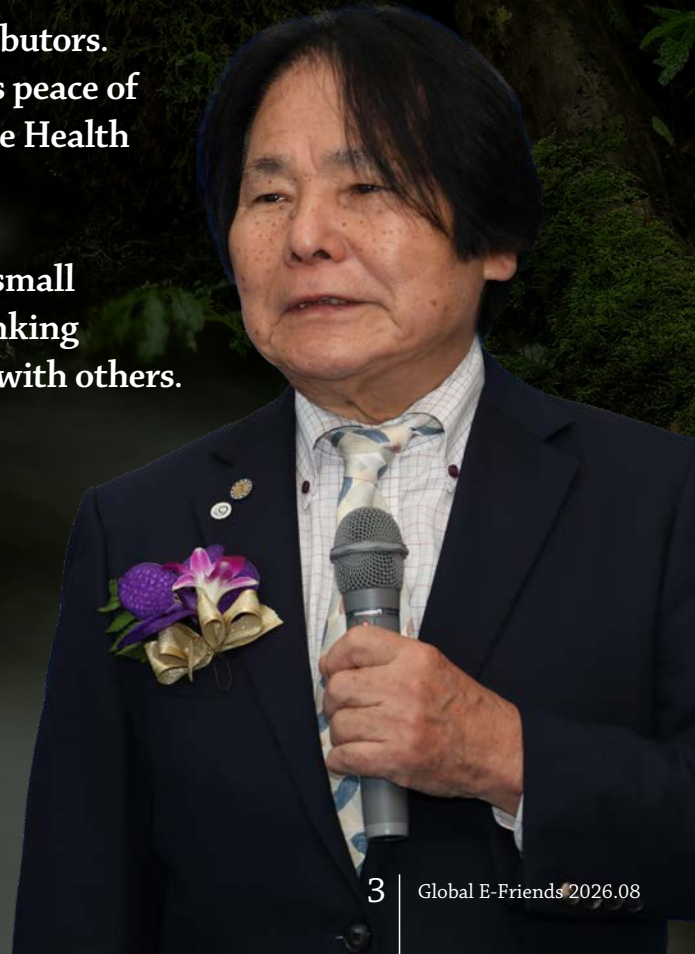

I flew from Okinawa to Mumbai to see all the happy faces. After seeing everyone in-person and speaking with distributors from all over the world, I can tell that you guys are drinking a lot of Kangen Water® and your lives have changed. Sharing Kangen Water® has been so rewarding.

When I first drank Kangen Water®, I was in my 40s. It’s been 40+ years since I changed my water to Kangen Water®, the water that we all know and love, and my life did change. I am 85 years old now, but I’m still very healthy and energetic, and I’m still having fun doing my job.

Enagic has three types of health that we always tell distributors. First is physical health. Second is financial health. Third is peace of mind, your mental health. Let’s all continue to spread True Health around the world.

The birthplace for Enagic is in Okinawa. E8PA. It’s a very small island, but we have big hearts. I want you to continue drinking Kangen Water® and sharing this water, this opportunity, with others. Help as many people as you can with Kangen Water®.

Enagic India Hosts Epic 10-Year Anniversary Event

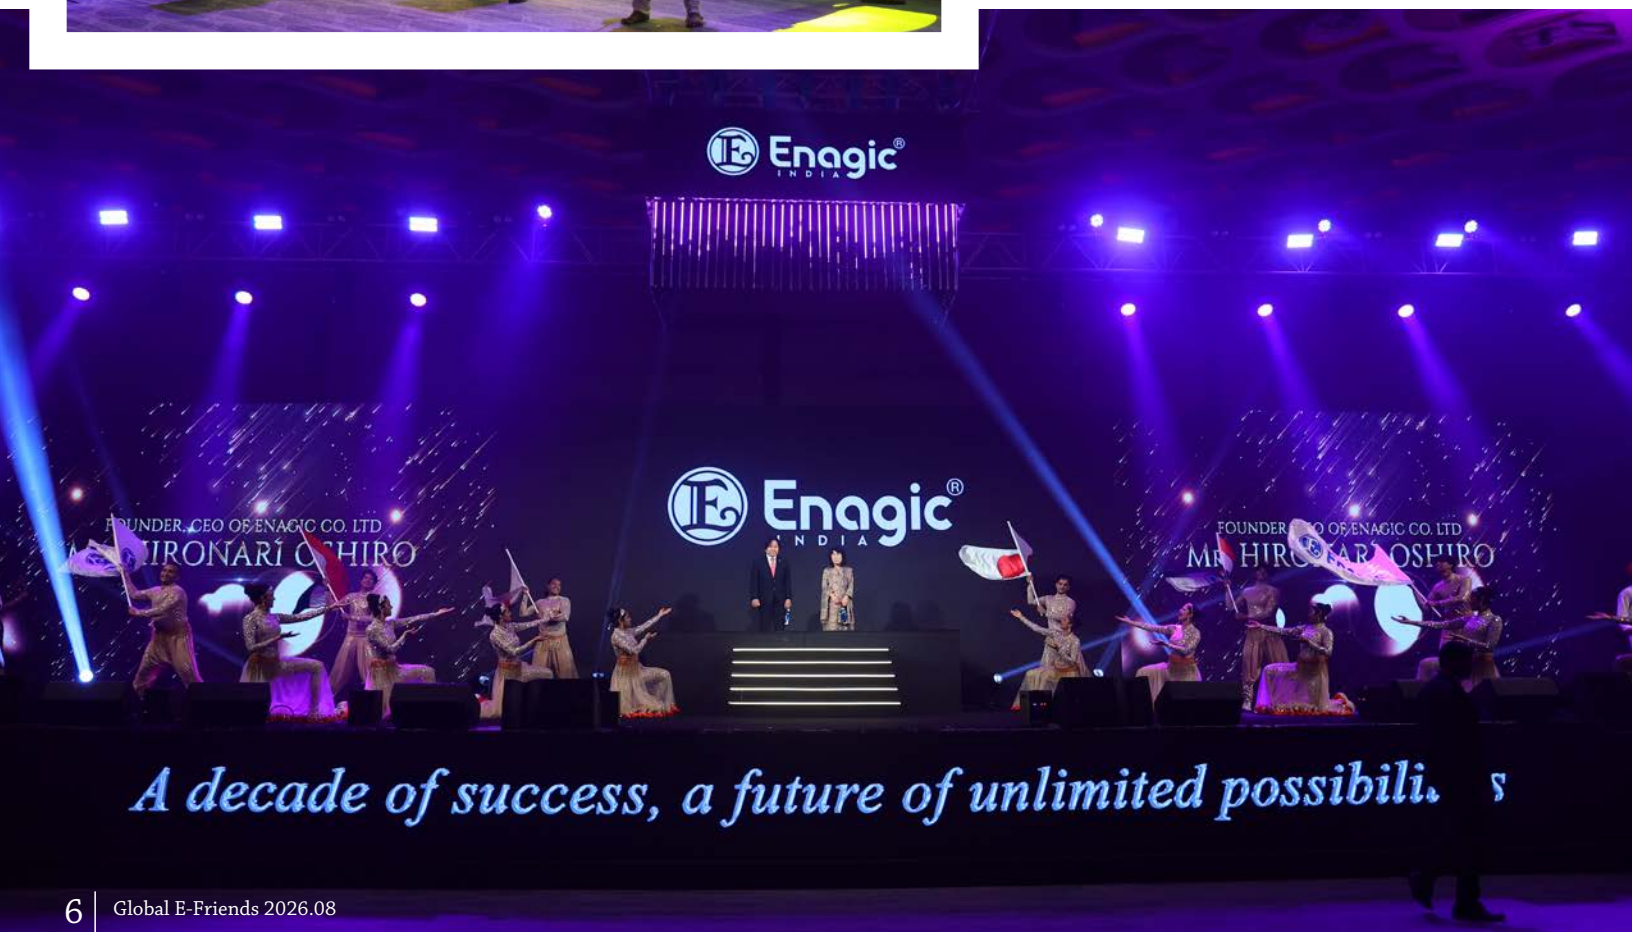

Enagic India hosted a massive 10-Year anniversary celebration in the Jio World Convention Centre (KWCC) at BKC Mumbai. Nearly 11,000 top leaders, distributors, and staffers flew in from across the world, including Enagic Founder and CEO Hironari Ohshiro and his wife Yaeko.

The event's motto appeared on stage: "A decade of success, a future of unlimited possibilities." Pageantry leading up to Mr. Ohshiro's eagerly anticipated appearance included drummers, dancers waving Japanese and Indian flags, impressive sparklers, and dazzling lights. A drone even hovered above the stage, capturing the scene for people who couldn't attend in-person.

Mr. and Mrs. Ohshiro also welcomed their son, Enagic Global Vice President Hiroki Ohshiro, and his wife, Yae.

Mr. Ohshiro addressed the crowd in Japanese, with translations in English and Hindi. He credited 6A8-6 Amos “Sam” Sia and wife 6A5-6 Cora Loh with launching Enagic India, convincing locals to try and share Kangen Water®, saying, “If you change your water, you can change your life.”

The positive energy and emotion from the crowd was palpable in the convention centre on July 26. As the event's emcee said, "This truly is a movement that has created this moment."

E8PA[®]

INTRODUCES

BLACK DIAMOND MEMBERSHIP

E8PA proudly introduced its all-new Black Diamond Membership during the 52nd Anniversary celebration in Okinawa. 13 distributors from around the world earned the distinction of becoming the inaugural E8PA Black Diamond Members. During the event, Enagic Global Vice President Hiroki Ohshiro formally recognized some members, presenting them each with a certificate of appreciation in honor of their dedication.

Hear from these pioneering members as they share what it means to be an E8PA Black Diamond member and the impact this recognition has on their journey.

"Getting the Black Diamond E8PA is probably one of the best business decisions I've made. The ability to accumulate points that I can give to new clients is incredibly valuable. Having no percentage deducted through ACH is another huge benefit, and being reimbursed for travel to Enagic events make it even more worthwhile.

Those are all amazing incentives, but they're not the reason I chose to become a Black Diamond. I made this investment because I believe in Enagic's mission. I wanted to support the Circle of Compassion, contribute to rebuilding Sedake, and invest in the future of the company. If I'm going to build in partnership with Enagic, I want to help support its continued expansion and the impact it's creating around the world."

- 6A3-3 Jilly Torrez

"Since E8PA membership was first introduced in Las Vegas, I joined as a Black Card member and now I moved up as a Black Diamond for two reasons:

1. To support Enagic's cause, to inspire, promote unity and the sense of belonging.
2. With E8PA points, I'll be able to help an unprivileged family in the Philippines, to send their sons or daughters to school. As a contribution to society."

- 6A9-6 Jayvee Pacfico

"Owning an Enagic E8PA Black Diamond Membership is the most recognized and universally acknowledged symbol of status globally! Ownership represents international influence. It's proof of self-achievement: a tangible representation of success in health, well-being, and wealth, fulfilling your self-worth! Just like Enagic's mission:

1. Realization of True Health. 2. Realization of True Physical Health. 3. Realization of True Financial Health. 4. Realization of True Metaphysical Health!"

- 6A3-5 Eric Wong

"Becoming an E8PA Black Diamond Member is more than receiving a membership card—it is a commitment to a bigger mission. I was deeply inspired by E8PA's vision of creating more opportunities for distributors to grow, learn, and stay connected with the company. I also love the Black Diamond level because I believe if I'm going to do something, I want to pursue the highest standard. That's always been my philosophy.

One of the greatest benefits to E8PA Membership is that every sale contributes to earning points that can be used to participate in company events and experiences. This encourages distributors to stay engaged, keep learning, and build stronger belief in the company, its products, and its vision.

I will proudly share the value of E8PA with my team because I truly believe it helps create a culture of continuous learning, recognition, and long-term success. I'm excited to grow together with Enagic and inspire more people to become part of this amazing journey."

- 6A2 Leslie Wang

"Becoming an E8PA Black Diamond Member is deeply meaningful to me because it represents prosperity with purpose. During my visit to Okinawa for the Global Convention, I had the opportunity to learn more about Mr. Ohshiro's vision, his family's work, and the heart behind giving back to his indigenous roots and community in Sedake, Okinawa. That experience moved me and helped me see E8PA as much more than a membership.

Watching the Compassion Project and hearing Jilly Terez speak about Mr. Ohshiro's vision solidified my decision. I felt the deeper mission behind E8PA, a mission rooted in contribution, community, education, and legacy.

For me, being part of E8PA means building a business that is not only financially expansive, but also aligned with service, generosity, and meaningful impact. I am honored to be part of this vision as a Black Diamond Member."

Italy Distributor Profile

Nicusor Mocanu

6A2-3

6A2-3 Nicusor Mocanu lived in Romania until he was 18 years old. After graduating from school in 1997, Nicusor left to pursue his dream “to build a better life” in Italy.

“The first years were very challenging,” Nicusor says. “I worked harvesting olives, then in factories, and on weekends I worked as a pizza maker. For five years, I lived this intense life without breaks, without rest. Then I became a truck driver, thinking it would provide stability and better pay. The money was good, but life was hard. I spent long days on the road and saw my children only while they were asleep. I realized I was missing the most precious time with my family.” He reached a turning point in 2016.

That's when 6A2-4 Liviu Militaru, a collaborator from a previous network marketing project, visited Nicusor's home with a Kangen Water® ionizer. "He spoke to me about the opportunity, and something clicked inside me," Nicusor says. "I purchased three machines — for myself, my mother, and my mother-in-law — and made four sales."

His first sale was to Cristinel Pintilie, a fellow truck driver who now has a 5A rank. Nicusor had a false start, but after further encouragement from Liviu, committed to become an Independent Distributor. From 2016 - 2019, he simultaneously drove trucks and conducted Kangen Water® demos wherever he could, including parking lots and rest stops. He formed meaningful connections, including trusted downline Tonino Rocca.

After reaching a 6A rank, he left trucking to commit fully to Independent Distribution. "My employer even offered me a raise to stay, but I said no," Nicusor says. "I knew this was my path. I could no longer sacrifice precious moments with my family." Enagic provided him with a business opportunity that aligned with his personal goals and priorities. Nicusor has enjoyed steady growth ever since.

"What helped me succeed was perseverance," he says. "Life has never been easy, but I always had the courage to get back up. In Enagic, courage, determination, and heart are key. My adaptability has also been crucial. Perhaps being a foreigner gave me an extra edge: the ability to start from scratch, to take risks, and to build without a safety net."

His mission is now evident. “I want to share this opportunity with all foreigners like me, those who left their home countries seeking a better future,” he says. Nicusor’s aim is to support others who wish to develop their own customer base and business activities. He also has another milestone in sight: reaching a 6A2-4 rank.

Nicusor has taken a highly personal approach to team building. “What I love most about this work is that it allows me to build real friendships around the world and choose the people I want to work with,” he says. “I always motivate my team to speak with heart and honesty, because that is what truly connects with people.”

For Nicusor, there’s no substitute for live action. “I deliberately chose to work in-person, because I deeply believe in human connection,” he says. “You must work hard, as in any profession, but the joy of helping others transform their lives is priceless.”

Independent Distributors are not guaranteed any level of income. Most distributors earn modest supplemental income or less. Please review the Enagic Earnings Disclosure Statement at www.enagic.com for detailed, current information.

What's the Relationship Between Brain Oxidative Stress and Curcumin? Mouse Studies Demonstrate Age-Related Changes in Memory Function

Declines in nervous system function, characterized by age-related changes in memory performance, are among the research areas that attract significant scientific and societal interest.

Studies in this field have reported associations between functional changes in the brain and factors such as the abnormal accumulation of specific proteins and oxidative stress.

In recent years, oxidative stress has received particular attention as one factor involved in changes to nervous system function. Numerous basic research studies have investigated the effects of food-derived compounds on these processes.

Curcumin, a plant-derived polyphenol, is one such compound that has been widely studied across various research disciplines.

In one study, researchers conducted a fundamental investigation of the effects of delivering curcumin using solid lipid nanoparticles (SLNs). The study involved both wild-type (WT) mice and model mice with a specific genetic background.

The results were evaluated through transcriptome analysis of tissue samples, which allowed researchers to assess associations with specific patterns of gene expression.

Findings reported that under conditions where curcumin was administered using SLNs, changes in the expression of certain genes were observed in the brains of both mouse models. These genes are suggested to be associated with responses to oxidative stress and maintaining cellular function.

This study represents one example of basic research on curcumin. It is expected that continued advances in this field will provide further insights and expand our understanding of its biological effects.

Ukon Factory News

Steady Progress in Turmeric Deliveries to the Factory!

Deliveries of ukon for the new production year began on November 10, 2025. We currently work with approximately 260 contracted farmers. While the total ukon volume that farmers delivered last year reached 628 tons, our goal for this year is to receive approximately 650 tons.

Farm Department members receive ukon deliveries from local farmers every Monday from 8:15 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

The Farm Department maintains constant communication with farmers throughout the year, but many farmers may not see each other for some time. Receiving periods provide opportunities to catch up, exchange greetings, and celebrate good health.

In addition, the Farm Department includes technical trainees from Indonesia.

Regardless of nationality, they actively communicate with local farmers and are working hard to build and maintain strong relationships within the ukon community.
